Testimonial Dinner Feb. 11 For Famous Octogenarians

John H. Jefferies, Jr., chairman of the citizens' committee which is arranging the testimonial dinner to Robert H. Durbin and Dr. O. J. Snyder, announced this week the affair will be held on Tuesday evening, February 11, 1947, at the Overbrook Golf Club.

The men to be honored are octogenarians, each of them having recently celebrated his 80th birthday. It also happens that Mr. Durbin and Dr. Snyder have both lived in Narberth for more than 40 years.

It is expected there will be a numerous attendance at the formal celebration of the respective anniversaries. Certainly the careers of the gentlemen to be honored and the manner in which they have added to the fame and prestige of Narberth well warrant an expression of community esteem in a grand way.

Mr. Jefferies states it was the first desire of the committee to have the dinner occur in Narberth, so as to better maintain the home-town aspect, but adequate facilities for such occasions continue to be one of the Borough's needs. The Overbrook Golf Club was decided on because it can accommodate a large gathering and there is assurance that the food and general arrangements will be of a first-rate order. In addition, it is only a five-minute drive from Narberth. Transportation will also be provided for those who request it.

Dr. J. Herbert Tilly, long-time president of Strawbridge & Clothier, and the business associate of Mr. Durbin for many years, has sent word that he will be present and will be prepared to speak an appreciative piece in behalf of his good friend. As is well known, Mr. Durbin was advertising director for Strawbridge & Clothier's for 40 years and only recently retired from that important capacity. He was also president of the Poor Richard Club, one of America's foremost advertising groups, for several terms and is held in affectionate regard by all the member of that alert fraternity.

Dr. Snyder will also be sponsored by a speaker who has worked with him through the years in bringing the science of Osteopathy to its present unchallenged status in America. The final selection has not as yet been made, as there are many from whom to choose, but there can be confidence that the audience will be well informed regarding the high status our neighbor occupies in his distinguished specialty.

For the history of osteopathy in this part of the nation is also the saga of Dr. Snyder, as he provided the inspiration and the driving force for the extraordinary achievements which resulted. The big Osteopathic College and Hospital in West Philadelphia is one of the permanent memorials of his unceasing endeavors. If there is not a complete transcript of Dr. Snyder's part in the great field of osteopathy in our Narberth Library, surely there ought to be, for this is the kind of precious narrative which should be highly prized and particularly so in the home environment whence the triumph was wrought.

It is heartening to realize that the culmination of four-score active and fruitful years by two of Narberth's leading citizens will not be allowed to pass unheralded or unsung, for both these men have made a large impression on the good life, and it is fitting indeed that some formal recognition should be made of what they have done and of what they mean to those who have been their immediate neighbors. They have truly stored up treasures which neither moth nor rust can corrupt nor thieves break through and steal.

Mr. Jefferies also said some other things, viz, the subscription will be $3 and the dress will be optional. He further stated that the committee is on a volunteer basis and that he would welcome additions to its ranks. In the meantime, tickets may be secured by telephoning Narberth 24-32 or from Carl B. Metzger, Jr., at the Bank. They may also be had at Ralph Dunne's office and from Mrs. Grace at Elm Hall. Inevitably, too, Howard Davis will have them, accustomed as he is to having everything needed for the pleasure and well-being of borough residents.

Chairman Jefferies also suggested that those who formerly lived in Narberth should be informed regarding the celebration and invited to be present, for there is every prospect that the party will be a notable event, a memorable gathering of old friends and neighbors.

Bird Lovers Gird for Fight With Defenders of Hawks

Lower Merion bird lovers are ginning for the Delaware Valley Ornithological Society as well as cooper and sharpshin hawks.

They are preparing for the public meeting in the Lower Merion Township building in Ardmore Friday night with everything except double-barreled shotguns.

They are not only calling an array of prominent Main Line witnesses to testify as to the predatory habits of cooper and sharpshin hawks but there will be naturalists and scientists at hand for expert testimony.

The leader of the anti-hawk drive in Lower Merion, Barney Fischer, even predicted there would be dead cooper hawks submitted as evidence even if he had to take to the open fields of the Main Line estates to shoot them down himself.

Fischer, who lives on Simpson Rd., Ardmore, said that local bird lovers were incensed that members of the ornithological society should defend birds of prey that had been condemned by the State Game Commission as vermin. Local members of the society, including

William J. Serrill, Edward Woolman and William Bailey, all of Haverford, have predicted that the hawk-hunt will lead to juvenile delinquency and revive prejudice against all hawks many of which are harmless for song birds.

Outlining the position of Lower Merion bird lovers and explaining what was contemplated in the anti-hawk campaign Fischer issued the following statement yesterday:

"We wish to invite all bird lovers to attend the meeting on control of hawks in the Lower Merion Township building Friday night at 8 P. M.

"To the hawk lovers, we say, we don't question your intentions, but we do question your knowledge of the serious situation that faces Lower Merion and how we aim to solve it.

"Our song birds need help in their battle against cooper and sharpshin hawks. There is no intention of having young boys touring the township with firmarms. The shooting should be done by experienced and mature members

John Reinhart Killed in Crash

Went To L. M. High; Lived in Merion

A 28-year-old Naval Reserve flier, formerly of Merion, crashed to his death Sunday at Atlantic City while on a practice flight.

The dead officer was Lieutenant John H. Reinhart, of 35 Ardmore Ave., Lansdowne, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Reinhart, Jr., of 648 S. Highland Ave., Merion. Lt. Reinhart was well known on the Main Line, where he attended Lower Merion High School and Episcopal Academy. He graduated from Franklin and Marshall College.

The officer was in a formation of six Helldivers, all piloted by reservists who fly two Sundays a month from the Willow Grove Naval Air Station. Lt. Reinhart was leading the second "V" of three planes. The pilots had been "peeling off" from formation and dropping small practice bombs on a target at the Navy's Black Point Bombing Range, two miles inland from the ocean. Reinhart was on his third dive from 7000 feet when his plane failed to level off and plunged into the swampland. He was killed instantly as the plane nosed into the marsh. There was no explosion and the plane did not burn.

Reinhart joined the Navy in 1942, after a course in aviation engineering, and completed his advanced training at the Reserve Base, Philadelphia Navy Yard. He was sent to Pensacola and commissioned an ensign there. He continued to serve as an instructor at Pensacola during the war. A brother, George, 3d, is a commander in the Navy.

School Board Met

An executive meeting of the Narberth School Board was held last Thursday night to discuss the question of teachers' salaries. The matter was referred to the board's solicitor, Roland Fleer.

Navy Vet Was Fearless, Father Tells Coroner

Surviving four years of rugged PT boat warfare in the Pacific had made Richard Boswell Schofield, 24, so fearless he saw no danger in anything, his father, Frank E. Schofield, 212 Llanfair Rd., Ardmore, told Coroner W. J. Rushong and an inquest jury here last Thursday afternoon.

On the morning of Nov. 29, young Schofield apparently saw no danger in turning on his auto radio while seated in the car in his garage. As a result he died accidentally of monoxide poisoning.

That was the verdict of the coroner's jury after hearing testimony of Schofield's father, his family physician, Dr. S. J. Brinton, Bryn Mawr, Lower Merion Police Lieutenant McLaughlin and Coroner's physician, Dr. J. C. Simpson.

The elder Schofield said his son had "too little fear."

"He survived an explosion which sent him to a hospital for six

Borough VMSC Holds Annual Elections

Merkle Re-elected President For Third Term

The Volunteer Medical Service Corps of Narberth held the annual election of officers last Wednesday night at Elm Hall.

Thomas W. Merkle was re-elected president for a third term and Perry Nevins was elected vice president. Stephen MacNeill was elected secretary, Shirley Vincent was re-elected treasurer and Virginia Knapp was re-elected financial secretary.

Merkle, who is commanding officer of the unit, reported that the service ambulance had answered 129 calls during 1946 covering all types of accidents and sickness. The rescuator was responsible for the saving of a life.

The Board of Directors announced that plans are being formulated for a drive seeking additional active members.

Last month, the Service Corps placed an order for a new ambulance that will cost between four and five thousand dollars. Edward F. Frankensfield, a member of the Board of Directors, said this week that delivery can not be expected until June.

The decision to buy the new ambulance was made by the Board of Directors of the VMSC at their regular monthly meeting held last month. The Board also voted to transfer into the new ambulance fund all the money that can be spared from the treasury, leaving only enough to take care of routine operating expenses.

At the annual meeting of the entire active membership of the VMSC held last month new Directors for 1947 were elected.

The new directors are R. Shirley Vincent, Perry Nevins, Edward T. Frankensfield, Stephen M. McNeill, Guy Mosteller, Madeline Miesen and Virginia M. Knapp. Thomas W. Merkle, as Commanding Officer, is an ex-officio member of the Board, but has no vote.

All the officers of the Library Association were re-elected for new terms. They are:

Section Three of the Library by-laws was liberalized and now reads:

"Registered borrowers of the library who are in good standing and who are 21 years of age or over may be considered members of the Association without payment of dues."

Before being amended, the clause read as follows:

"Residents of the Borough of Narberth, 21 years of age or over, who have been registered borrowers and active users of the library for a period of one year or more, and who, in the judgment of the Board of Trustees, are in good standing may be considered members of the Association without payment of dues."

A Section Six was added to the by-laws. The text reads:

"Any resident of the Borough of Narberth who is 21 years of age or over may be elected to membership in the Association by action of the Board of Trustees without payment of dues."

Town Talk

By DOROTHY M. OGDEN

Having a Governor who's practically a next-door neighbor in the Executive Mansion at Harrisburg proved too much of a temptation, so last week I went up to see John C. Bell, Jr., who finished his four-year term as Lt. Governor in the highest position of the state.

John Bell didn't enter politics until 1938, so it was a pretty fast jump from being chairman of the Republican State Committee Speakers' Bureau, then, to being Governor of the state in 1947.

Starting at the beginning, the most impressive fact about the State Capitol is that it looks so new and well-cared-for, after the relative shabbiness of Congress which I had just seen the week before.

The rotunda of white marble, with glittering crystal chandeliers underneath the 272-foot high dome, is really very beautiful. The staircase sweeps up the center of the rotunda, opposite the front door, and on the one side of the gallery is the House of Representatives' Chamber—on the left hand side is the Senate Chamber.

Police Win $64 Question After Arresting Men

Lower Merion Township police won the $64 question last Thursday afternoon, when they arrested two New York brothers for peddling without a license.

The men, Nichola and David Hanna, of W. Hempstead, N. Y., were arrested after residents of the Merion Manor section complained to police.

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace Joseph B. Allen, the men pleaded guilty and were fined $32 apiece.

Pollock Urges State Law To Stop Player Bribes In Professional Sports

Narberth's Oldest Resident

He is the oldest Navy veteran in Pennsylvania and the Hospital gave a party for him and 75 guests during the afternoon. Among those present were Vice-Admiral James L. Kauffman, Commandant of the 4th Naval District and Captain Howard Montgomery, Commanding Officer of the Hospital.

Secretary of the Navy, James Forrestal sent Doll, who was wounded during the Civil War Battle of Mobile Bay when he was a member of Admiral Farragut's Fleet, a telegram wishing him many Happy Returns.

Labor Topic At Women's Club Annual Meeting

Dr. O. C. Lorenz Tells How Public Can Help

The regular business meeting of the Narberth Women's Community Club was held Tuesday afternoon at the Community Building. Mrs. S. J. McCartney presided.

Mrs. Katherine Baily Westman contributed to the musical part of the program by singing three solos, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Mildred Baily, at the piano.

The speaker of the day was Dr. Otto C. Lorenz, who discussed "Labor Problems In Present American Business Trends."

"Higher wages force a closing of markets through high prices, which in turn limits markets," Dr. Lorenz said.

"The general public can help. The most direct method of helping now and for the future is by adopting the New York state plan of teaching teachers and high school students the whys and wherefores of production, distribution, banking and general economics."

"This is done," Dr. Lorenz added, "through public and high schools and legislative forces. Pennsylvania has a similar bill which will be presented before the next Legislature."

Hostesses for the day were: Mrs. E. S. Duesler and Mrs. A. C. Schwaband. Mrs. Charles K. Hechner and Mrs. Howard Ziegler presided at the tea table.

The Rev. Keighton, pastor of the Church from 1924 to 1944, will use as his theme, "Toward a Satisfying Religion," at the 11 A. M. service. He is now serving as a member of the faculty of Crozier Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa.

The services will be conducted by the Rev. Robert G. Middleton, pastor of the Church. Music selections by the choir will include "Sanctus" by Guonod.

Editor Speaks At Boro PTA

Next To Religion Is Sportsmanship, He Says

Next to religion as a guide for right living, comes sportsmanship, Edwin Pollock, Evening Bulletin sports editor, told members of the Narberth Public School Parent-Teachers' Association at a meeting held Monday night.

"There is a great deal in common between religion and good sportsmanship: the idea of doing unto others as you would have them do unto you," he added.

Pollock, for many years with the old Philadelphia Public Ledger, pointed out that sports teach many things,—intuition, quick thinking, the desire to win, to put forth your best efforts, care of the body, and development of the body and mind.

"Many of America's leaders have come from the fields of sports," he said. "This was certainly true during the war, when the best fighters were boys with a background of sports."

Pollock illustrated this statement by citing a commander in the air force who took a poll of his flyers. Those who were considered good, capable and courageous flyers, he said, were found to be boys with an athletic background. Others in whom they had little faith, were boys with little athletic training.

Striking out against professional betting on sports, Pollock said, "Professional gamblers should be kept out of sports because eventually it will be arranged, so that the game will be fixed. We should have laws in every state prohibiting bribing of players."

The meeting was led by Richard Lehnman, P. T. A. president, with the invocation by Father O'Connor, of St. Margaret's church. The salute to the flag was led by Gwen Hunsicker.

During the business meeting which preceded the program, W. J. Drennen, Narberth school principal, announced that starting the last week in January and continuing for three weeks, Dr. Frank Burge, of Radcliffe road, Cynwyd, will take X-rays of Narberth school pupils, free of charge.

"This is the first opportunity of its kind to be offered to residents of Narberth," Drennen stated, "and the examinations will also be offered to adults."

Letters will be sent to all parents asking whether they desire to have their children X-rayed at the school. Volunteers will be needed to help with the work, Drennen added. Names of all volunteers should be given to Mrs. Gilbert McLaren, chairman of the Child Welfare Committee of the Association.

Special music for the program was presented by Reynolds Massey, of Philadelphia, accompanied by James Irvine, a member of the association.

Rotary Speaker

Joe Razek was guest speaker Thursday afternoon at the regular weekly meeting of the Ardmore Rotary held at the Haverford Court Hotel. His subject was "The Magic of Electronics." "Doc" Horn was the chairman at the luncheon meeting.

Gen. Arnold's 8-ft. Totem Puzzles School Board

Well, General Arnold should be happier about his native Lower Merion this week because something HAS been done about that ephemeral trophy cabinet his Army engineers designed to house his gifts of war booty.

The gift has been the subject of some slight misunderstanding throughout the Township since it was donated to the Lower Merion Board of Commissioners last year. The Commissioners suspected at that time that the General, who had approved the placement of the gift in the Senior High School War Memorial Alcove, got a little mixed up on his local government structure and meant to donate it to the School Board, which administers all school activities.

When the ownership of the trophies was finally clarified by the solicitors of the two Boards, trouble further ensued over the building of the cabinet according to the specifications of the General's engineers—it called for enough glass to enclose an eight-foot high totem pole. But there was no glass being manufactured—so that type of cabinet was out as far as immediate construction was concerned.

But on Monday night, F. A. DuBois, Superintendent of the L. M. Schools, reported that the difficulty has been solved. It seems that the General, though irate over the delay, had given the Board permission to have the totem pole set up OUTSIDE of the cabinet.

T. W. Hammonds & Brother, of Bryn Mawr, said that in that case it could assure the beginning of the construction on a modified design of the General's engineers.

Next problem confronting the Board: where to put one slightly-used eight-foot-high totem pole?

Town Talk

U. S. Senate on its first day to acquire seniority immediately.

The Governor's office is located in the South wing of the building, behind the House of Representatives. The luxurious outside office of the Governor was filled last Wednesday afternoon with high school children going through the building on a guided tour. While I was waiting in the inside office I met up with Dave Harris and his wife who had just stopped by to say hello to Governor Bell. James Duff, then governor-elect, now Governor, had just appointed Mr. Harris to the position he had held under Martin, that of Secretary of Revenue. He is chairman of the Philadelphia Republican Committee, besides.

The inside office is carpeted in light green, has dark oak panelling from floor to ceiling with ornate carving, crystal chandeliers and wall bracket lamps. High above the eye level, just two feet below the ceiling, on all four walls, are portraits of all of Pennsylvania's past governors.

The Governor's private office is also paneled in carved oak. Governor Bell sat at the head of a horse-shoe-shaped desk with a red leather top.

Though he had left word not to be disturbed the Governor signed letters throughout the interview saying that he had to get that work done sometime and that he felt "The red tape requiring the Governor to sign countless papers each day, having little or no connection with the office of Governor is one of the most bothersome details of being Governor. Not only that, but they usually have to be signed in quadruplicate."

His secretary, she's Miss Elizabeth Fainstok, a State Civil Service employee, who has been with Mr. Bell since he was appointed Secretary of Banking in 1939, was taking dictation between my questions.

In answer to a question about the routine which takes up the Governor's day, Bell replied, "It is mostly concerned with signing papers and seeing 100 or more visitors a day, official and otherwise, who have business with him. Of course, since I've been in office the Legislature hasn't been in session so that no work in that direction has arisen. But normally that, too, is part of the Governor's daily routine, keeping track of all the legislation before the governing bodies."

"The difference between my duties as Lt. Governor and Governor are manifold. For instance, as Lt. Governor I presided over the Senate, just as the U. S. Vice-President presides over the U. S. Senate. As Governor, I have to write numerous speeches. Saturday I have to make a speech for the Founder's Day exercises at the University of Pennsylvania and that is how I spent my morning, after answering nearly 100 letters which I started on as soon as I entered the office at 8:30 A. M."

In reply to the question about his future political plans he said, "I'm planning to return to my law practice with the firm of Norris, Bell, Lex, Hart and Eldridge."

Commenting on politics in general however, he said, "In my opinion the salvation of our country depends upon the people taking a more active interest and participation in government. Our republican form of government, which is erroneously called democracy, is on trial, not only in our own country but throughout the world. The liberty for which our forefathers fought, bled and died is endangered by the errors and philosophies of government which have proved dismal failures down through the ages. We must at all hazards fight regimentation, bureaucracy and a planned economy, each of which destroys liberty and will eventually make us a nation of regimented puppets. In order to preserve our form of government and our cherished free way of life we must elect for leadership and for public office freedom-loving men and women who have high ideals and progressive principles and who will place the welfare of our country above everything else."

When Bell was inaugurated January 2, several hundred friends and relatives were present. Among them were his three sons and two daughters, but his daughters, Sally and Sophie, didn't stay to spend the night in the Executive Mansion with the rest of the family. Their dad was just their

The Old Six-Mile House

"SIX MILE HOUSE," famous Main Line landmark, which will soon house five families when it's turned into apartments by its new owner, William C. Ferguson of Remington Rd., Wynnewood.

The house, located below Wynnewood Rd. on Lancaster Ave., in Wynnewood, was originally the first toll house on the way West out of Philadelphia.

The above photograph shows the house as it was after was re-modelled during the Victorian era of the Parker Shortridge family—he was a president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. When his heir, Parker Williams died a few years ago, it was bought by the Edwin B. Mahoney Construction Company of Ardmore.

had even if he was Governor, but a party was a party and they weren't going to miss that for anything.

Bell, who finished his 19-day term of office Tuesday when James Duff was sworn in, lives at 283 Hathaway Lane, Wynnewood. He is the son of John C. Bell and Fleurette de Benneville Myers Bell. He graduated from Episcopal Academy in 1910, the University of Pennsylvania in 1914 and its law school in 1917. From 1919 to 1922 he was Assistant City Solicitor of Philadelphia and from 1922 to 1925 he was Assistant District Attorney of Philadelphia. Between 1925 and 1938, the Bell family lived a relatively peaceful life—then, politically, things began to pop. First, Mr. Bell became chairman of the Republican State Committee Speakers' Bureau. In that same year he was made Finance Chairman of the "James for Governor" Primary Campaign and Vice-Chairman of the Republican State Finance Committee.

In 1939 he was made Secretary of Banking of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a term which lasted until 1942, and at that time, he was elected to the office of Lt. Governor.

His hobbies include tennis in which he was a finalist for the United States Court Tennis Doubles Championship in 1926, 1929, 1931, 1932, 1934, and 1936. In 1920, by the way, he ranked in Lawn Tennis among the first ten in America. From 1930 to 1935 he was the Philadelphia Court Tennis Doubles Champion.

Extra-curricular activities include such things as being Commander of the Crusaders of Pennsylvania, President of the Racquet Club of Philadelphia, a member of the Gulph Mills Golf Club, member of the Society of Sons of the Revolution and the Colonial Society of Pennsylvania.

His son, John C. Bell, III, also a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, was with his father during his days as Pennsylvania's Chief Executive. He just returned from the Army in which he served as an Infantry Sergeant.

His two brothers, Louis B. Bell and George de Benneville Bell were also in the service. Louis was a corporal in the Artillery and George was a Lt. in the Army Air Forces.

Governor and Mrs. Bell's final executive function was a small dinner which they gave in honor of the then Governor-elect James Duff and his wife Monday night in the Executive Mansion.

Back in private life since Tuesday, John C. Bell, Jr., can be found at his home or at his law offices, 1500 Walnut St., Philadelphia, under the title of Mister. However, he served this state as its Governor—the only Lt. Governor to succeed to that office in this Commonwealth, since 1790.

of the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club and the Lower Merion police department.

"The gunners should be seasoned veterans who are thoroughly capable of picking off these two species of hawks."

"For either the cooper or sharp-shin hawk there will be a bounty of $10 per hawk to be paid up to the first day of Spring, March 21, 1947. This money has been donated by Lower Merion citizens who are bird lovers and there will be no solicitation of funds at the meeting. If, however, any of the hawk lovers have a change of heart and wish to add to the bounty they will have the privilege of doing so."

"We have no quarrel with anyone. We have but one objective: help the song birds for which Lower Merion has been so famous."

Friday night's meeting will be opened by John Curley, Lower Merion Commissioner from the Bala District.

Victor Sweet, Cricket Ave., Ardmore, will be called to testify as to the two cooper hawks he killed recently when he caught them attacking a bluebird's nest.

Other speakers will include George W. Freas of the Pennsylvania Game Commission and Mrs. Ellen Dietrich, secretary of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Sportsmen's Clubs and a director of the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club.

Charles E. Mohr, head of the Academy of Mutual Science, and Professor Robert Stabler, head of the zoological department of the University of Pennsylvania, will exhibit stuffed hawks and show lantern slides so that hunters will not shoot any of the harmless and beneficial types of hawks.

The discussion leader was Mrs. Goodwin, of the Swarthmore ABCs of legislation.

The following paragraphs are taken from the minutes of the meeting:

"As individual citizens we must take the responsibility for considering and acting in the public interest. In a democracy, everyone has a contribution to make—everyone has some experience and some intelligence which it is her duty to use.

"The citizen has a dual role in the formulation of public policy. It is her duty to represent herself, not selfishly, but to tell how things look from her point of view. That is important for no one can represent you and you yourself.

"We must learn to consider the welfare of the whole people and to consider what is wise from the point of view of public policy.

"In this second function, each one is a statesman. We must learn to consider our interest in relation to the whole. Democracy is not merely a gigantic compromise of the individual. It should be more. It should be a searching for a better common life through a better common institution, government, which is the only institution of all the people.

DFC Awarded Posthumously

The Distinguished Flying Cross, one of the highest awards presented in World War II, was recently presented posthumously to Lt. Albert Edward Kennedy, USNR, son of Mrs. Harold R. Collins, of 529 Manor Rd., Wynnewood.

The honor was awarded to Lt. Kennedy for his action during operations against the Japanese in the Indo-China Area.

A pilot in Fighting Squadron 80, Lt. Kennedy was stationed aboard the aircraft carrier USS Hancock.

Text of the citation is as follows:

"For heroism and extraordinary achievement in aerial flight as pilot of a plane in Fighting Squadron 80, attached to the USS Hancock, during operations against enemy Japanese forces in the Indo-China area, on January 12 and 15, 1945.

"Despite intense hostile anti-aircraft fire and adverse weather conditions, Lt. Kennedy led his section in repeated strafing attacks, setting fire to and beaching a large enemy oiler. Pressing his attack on a later mission, he scored a rocket hit which started fires on an enemy transport.

Navy Vet

we pushed the car partially out of the garage and got him out of the car. We called the police, who were there in three minutes and they applied artificial respiration until Dr. Brinton arrived and pronounced him dead."

Asked if the Navy veteran had been brooding or in ill health, the father responded negatively and told of his son's conduct the previous evening.

"We had dinner at the Merion Golf Club that night, where we both are members," Mr. Schofield told the jury. "He was happy, had arranged a golf match for two days later and called a girl friend and planned a dinner engagement at the club on Thanksgiving evening. He was pleased with our business and was planning a trip."

The father did describe a glass of what he called water with possibly some bicarbonate of soda which he found on the seat.

"The glass was removed to the ground and some one stepped on it and broke it while we were trying to revive my son," Mr. Schofield said. He explained the son had complained of indigestion during the evening.

No trace of Schofield's activities could be learned from 10 the previous evening when he called on a sick friend in Ardmore and left after a few minutes when he learned he had gone to bed.

The victim's father said he had only two or three drinks the previous evening. He said his son often slept in the auto when he returned home as he had acquired a habit of staying up at night while in the hazardous PT service.

Schofield said his son had no known enemies and scouted any idea of foul play. He said the ignition switch was on but the motor was not running when he found his son. He said he didn't examine the motor to learn if it had been running.

Dr. Brinton told of being called to the scene at 5:15 that morning and of the resuscitation efforts.

"I had known the boy since he was 3 or 4. He was very happy, cheerful and had no motive for taking his life. He had the 'flu' the month before, but had recovered," Dr. Brinton said.

The Bryn Mawr physician said Schofield had been out the previous night and his battery had run down and provided the possible explanation that the victim had been running the motor in the car to recharge the battery while listening to the radio.

Dr. Simpson reported on the autopsy made on Schofield, which he reported was caused by monoxide poisoning.

Bell, a resident of 283 Hathaway Lane, Wynnewood, served a 19-day term before Governor-Elect James H. Duff took office Tuesday afternoon.

Army Officers Hurt In Crash

Both Are Patients At Valley Forge

Two officer patients of the Valley Forge General Hospital were injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into a parked car on Lancaster pike in front of the Whitehall apartment hotel in Haverford early Sunday.

The car they struck was set afire and also driven into another park vehicle. Bystanders put out the blaze before the arrival of the Merion Fire Co. of Ardmore, who answered the alarm.

Taken to Bryn Mawr Hospital were Major Sterling Price, 30, a repatriated prisoner of war, of Houston, Texas, and his companion, Captain Henry Dais, 31, of Chicago, Ill.

The officers, who were discharged after treatment, said they were blinded by the lights of heavy traffic which came from the opposite direction and could not see the cars which were parked along the highway.

Maj. Price, a veteran of the Army Air Force, was admitted to Valley Forge in May, 1946, after four years service. Capt. Dais, attached to the Field Artillery, had served four years and five months when admitted in September, 1945. Both were discharged from Bryn Mawr Hospital after treatment.

The car they struck and set afire was owned by Russell C. Parker, of 8118 Fairview Rd., Elkins Park. Slightly damaged when rammed by Parker's car was one belonging to Samuel H. Miller, of 503 E. Darby Rd., Llanerch.

Driver Freed On Fatality

Victim Was Janitor At Rosemont College

John Mullin, 44, of 75 Cricket Ave., Ardmore, was exonerated by a coroner's jury Friday morning of criminal responsibility for the death of a pedestrian he ran over with his automobile in Bryn Mawr on December 27.

The victim was Edgar J. Nangell, 65, who died 12 hours after being admitted to Bryn Mawr Hospital. He was a janitor at Rosemont College.

Officer Brady Utz of the Lower Merion police told the jury that Nangell apparently had fallen into the highway and was lying there unobserved when Mullin drove his car from the curb at 2:20 a. m.

Mullin and his fellow workman, W. Siroky of 69 Greenfield Ave., Ardmore, told Coroner W. J. Rushing that they felt a couple of "bumps" as they pulled away from the curb and looking back saw a man lying in the road.

Utz told of finding no marks on the auto with the exception of Nangell's white hair on the bottom of the car as it scraped over his body.

John Casey Dies, Station Master At Bryn Mawr

Solemn Requiem Mass for John Casey, for 64 years a resident of Lower Merion Township and for 48 years, an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was sung Monday morning at Our Mother of Good Counsel Church, Bryn Mawr.

Mr. Casey died last Friday at his home at the Bryn Mawr Station after an illness of several months. He was born in the gardener's cottage on the A. J. Cassatt estate, "Ceswold", on Cheswold Lane, Haverford. His father was the head gardener there.

After attending Lower Merion High School, he became a messenger for the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1899. He was employed by the railroad continuously until the time of his death.

Mr. Casey was named station master at Rosemont in 1910, and he and his wife, the former Miss Mary Gibbons, of Altoona, lived in the agent's house until 1927 when he was moved to the Bryn Mawr Station. He held this post until his illness forced him to retire.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Holy Name Society, and the Philadelphia Passenger Association.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Casey is survived by four children, the Rev. John F. Casey, O. S. A., of Chicago, William G., and the Misses Josephine D. and Mary C. Interment was in St. Denis Cemetery, Merwood.

Rosemont Man Given Citation

Harry W. Harrison, Jr. Awarded Navy DFC

Outstanding airmanship against enemy forces in the Bismark Archipelago area earned a permanent citation of the Distinguished Flying Cross for Commander Harry W. Harrison, Jr., of Pine Cottage, Rosemont.

Commander Harrison is now serving at the Naval Operating Base, Newport, R. I. The award was presented by Secretary of the Navy, James Forrestal, for the President.

Text of the citation reads as follows:

"For heroism and extraordinary achievement in aerial flight as Squadron Commander of Fighting Squadron 6, attached to the USS Independence, during operations against enemy Japanese forces in the Bismark Archipelago area, on Nov. 11, 1943.

While leading his squadron in a strike against hostile shipping near Rabaul, New Britain, Cdr. (then Lt. Cdr.) Harrison sighted a force of three enemy warships lying outside Simpson harbor and, in the face of intense anti-aircraft fire and poor visibility, daringly led his squadron in a powerful low level strafing attack to inflict extensive damage on the three vessels and contribute to the success of this mission.

By his outstanding skill, courage and devotion to duty, Cdr. Harrison upheld the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Subsidy Helps School Menus

Under a Federal subsidy plan Lower Merion public school pupils are going in for bigger and better meals in their school cafeterias.

Subsidies are provided with Federal Government funds for three types of lunches:

The A type lunch, subsidized for nine cents, is a complete meal. Served without milk it takes a seven cents subsidy.

The B type lunch, subsidized for six cents, is about the same but with smaller portions. Served without milk it takes a four cents subsidy.

The C type lunch is milk only and takes a two cents subsidy.

Superintendent of Schools F. A. Dubois reports that all of the schools have applied for the milk subsidy; six of the cafeterias for the nine cents subsidy lunch and two for the six cents subsidy lunch.

Operation of the Federal subsidy plan started January 6 with the release of funds through the State Department of Public Instruction.

"There was an immediate response to the plan," Superintendent Dubois reported, "and it appears that this new type lunch at its low cost is going to be much more popular than we anticipated."

To carry out the plan and meet the demand the superintendent said new help and equipment would have to be added.

Food Fair Tower

New City Line Food Fair Largest of Store Chain

Fifteen years ago, George Friedland opened a small butcher shop—the Union Meat Store—in Harrisburg.

Two years later, he conceived the idea of putting all the merchandise a housewife needs under one roof to simplify her shopping. He opened his first supermarket, also in Harrisburg.

He didn't realize at the time that he was starting a venture which would someday do an annual business of over 100 million dollars a year.

But that was the volume of business done last year by Friedland's 90 Food Fair stores, located in six eastern states.

And on Tuesday morning, Friedland—who lived until recently in Merion—opened his largest and most elaborate Food Fair store on City Line Ave., just below 54th St.

The new store, housed in a huge, modern building, contains ten departments, some self-service, others manned by clerks.

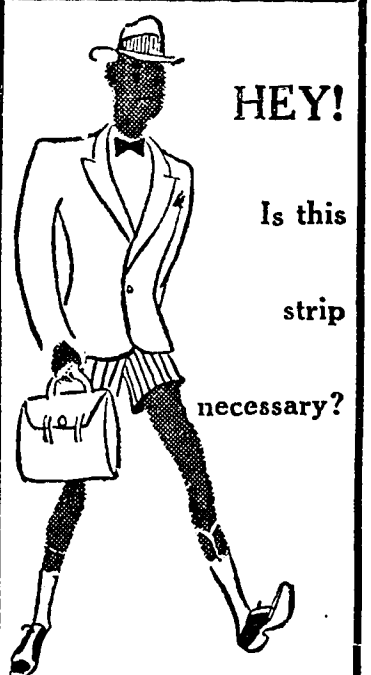

The self-service grocery department is stocked with 3000 items. In the produce section, every vegetable and piece of fresh fruit is washed and trimmed on the premises.

The meat department carries the slogan "protected, selected and guaranteed" meat of "choice" quality—a top category given by the government.

At the poultry counter, in addition to the usual chicken and turkey, the shopper will find pheasants, guinea hen and squabs. And the seafood department will carry every kind of fish available on the East coast. At the delicatessen counters, salads, relishes, and prepared luncheon meats will abound.

High above the new brick and steel building, a 60-foot tower is topped by the words "Food Fair".

Presented High Scouting Honor

Elect Main Liners To Valley Forge Council

A Brookline scoutmaster received the Silver Beaver Medal, highest award of the National Boy Scout Council, at the 36th annual dinner of the Valley Forge Council in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, Saturday night. Only three other Scouters in Montgomery and Delaware Counties, covered by Valley Forge Council, received Silver Beaver Medals. Approximately 600 attended the dinner of the Council which represents 8220 scouts in 367 troops in the two-county area.

Eaglesham is an electrical engineer with the General Electric Company. He came to Brookline as a trained leader of Boy Scouts and has acted as Scoutmaster since the organization of the troop in 1929. Hundreds of boys have benefited by his leadership.

During the past years, he has served as Scout District Commissioner and assisted in the formation of many other scout troops in Delaware and Montgomery Counties.

Miss Blanding is an outstanding new personality in the field of education. She is the first woman president of Vassar, and, before coming to Vassar, was the first woman to head a college at Cornell, where she was Dean of the N. Y. State College of Home Economics.

The dinner was sponsored jointly by the recently formed Philadelphia Vassar Committee and by the Philadelphia Vassar Club. Among the patrons and patronesses for the Committee were Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Butcher, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Mudd, all of Ardmore; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Comfort, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin Wood, Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Philbrick, Mr. and Mrs. Graeme Lorimer, all of Haverford, and Dr. and Mrs. James E. Know Your State

Pennsylvania has one hundred and thirty known caves of which fourteen have been opened to the public and operated commercially—a larger number than in the State of Virginia.

Most of Pennsylvania's caves are found in the limestone belt of the State and have been formed by the action of water over a period of hundreds of thousands of years. One evidence as to their great age lies in the fact that the remains of many extinct animals and of animals that no longer inhabit any part of North America have been discovered in Pennsylvania's caves. Several species of mastodon, an extinct hairy elephant, two species of saber-toothed tiger—one of the most powerful carnivorous animals ever known to have lived on the earth—and the remains of tapirs, musk ox, bison, caribou, and moose have all been discovered in the litter on the floors of caves in the southern counties of the Commonwealth. In Indian Cave in Huntingdon County extensive evidences were found of long occupation by Indians.

The oldest commercially operated cave in the State is Crystal Cave in Berks County. The Alexander Caverns, Baker, Hipple Cave, Indian Echo, Lost Cave, Onyx Cave, Seawra Cave, Veiled Lady, Wonderland Caverns, William Penn Caverns, Indian Cave, Woodward Cave, and ePnn's Cave, which is visited on a subterranean river, have been opened to the public and visited annually by thousands of tourists.

There are also a large number of caves unlighted, and often unnamed, scattered over the limestone area which provide interesting opportunities for exploration by those who are equipped for underground adventure.

With the close of the 1946 season for game in Pennsylvania, many of the State's sportsmen's clubs have embarked on their annual program for the distribution of grain and food to the wild animals in the woods. To many of the 1100 sportsmen's organizations in Pennsylvania, this winter program of game protection is becoming one of the most interesting parts of their year's program.

Committees of hunters spend their week ends planning and building brush-heap runways, lean-tos for shelter, stone tunnels, grain dispensers and other suitable cover for the protection of food from the weather and for the sheltering of wildlife. In the construction of these "forest pantries" provision must also be made for the swift escape of small animals or birds from foxes, weasels, hawks, and other predators.

The sportsmen's clubs operate in close harmony with the District Game Protectors who provide much of the grain, while green food such as celery, lettuce and other vegetables are usually collected from hotels and restaurants.

Game feeding offers excellent opportunities for youth groups connected with the sportsmen's organizations. The chance to spend a day working in the winter woods is eagerly sought by the boys and girls who join in these healthful and humane expeditions to preserve the extensive wildlife of the State.

New Buildings To Be Erected At Villanova

Break Ground For Largest Program In College's History

Plans for the erection of three new buildings at Villanova College were announced this week by the Very Rev. Mortimer A. Sullivan, O. S. A., chairman of the Board of Trustees, and the Very Rev. Francis X. McGuire, president.

Ground breaking ceremonies for the largest single program in the college's 105-year-history were held Wednesday and construction is expected to get underway soon. The new buildings include a memorial library, a chemical engineering building and a naval science and tactics armory. The buildings will be of stone construction to harmonize with other campus buildings, and will be ready for occupancy in September, 1948.

In announcing the plans, Father McGuire said, "The largest building program in the history of Villanova college is intended to fulfill the present and immediate future needs of the school."

"Only the late war prevented earlier construction. It is hoped these buildings will provide space to give present and future Villanovans the opportunity of securing the best that an educational institution can offer."

The memorial library will be a three-story building with space for 400,000 books. It will seat 500 students and will include seminar, music and faculty reading rooms and offices.

The chemical engineering building will be a two and one-half story structure which will house a metallurgical laboratory, X-ray laboratory for metals, a dark room and unit operations laboratory. The building will also have classrooms and a seminar room, a drafting room and a urbine room. It will house temporarily new approximately 5,000 more," he said.

"Delaware Countians have been most generous in contributing to the work of their association. However, in order to carry out our program fully this year, we will need the additional support of those who have not yet contributed through the purchase of Christmas Seals."

"It is not too late to send in returns to the office of the Delaware County Tuberculosis and Health Association, Eighth St. and Edgmont Ave., Chester, Pa."

Fire on Campus Of Bryn Mawr

About 130 students and several faculty members were routed from Taylor Hall on the Bryn Mawr College campus just before 1 P. M. last Wednesday by smoke from a slight basement fire.

The smoke was noticed first by Dr. Donald MacKinnon, professor of psychology, who called Miss Charlotte Howe, director of halls. She summoned firemen of Bryn Mawr and Ardmore, who put out the blaze quickly. It was confined to a basement fuse box. The building, one of the oldest on the campus, houses the college administration offices. There are also a number of classrooms.

"Yes... it's a boy!
Eight pounds. Both doing fine. I'll give you all the details when I see you, so we won't tie up the telephone."

BEHIND THE SCENES in Hollywood

FLYNN CRUISE CHARTS
NEW PINNACLE ROCK

IT'S 20 YEARS FOR THE JACK BENNY'S

HOLLYWOOD—Seems as if the hectic cruise of the Zaca has resulted in some benefits to navigation. Errol Flynn writes Nora that they discovered a large pinnacle rock off the Coconos Islands that wasn't mentioned on any charts. Maybe that doesn't excite you, sitting at home in your arm-chair, but it might if you were a mariner sailing down in those latitudes.

Anyway, the hydrographic office of the Republic of Panama thought it was important. They've officially dubbed the pile of stone "Zaca Rock."

"THE GHOST and Mrs. Muir" troupe was visited by Greer Garson, her first trip to another studio to watch Husband Richard and New York in a movie scene. Greer arrived in time to see Ney climb into a hansom with Gene Tierney.

"What small cabs you people use over at 20th Century-Fox."

DALE EVANS is distressed over the rumors that she will wed Roy Rogers, whose wife died several months ago.

"After all," she says, "Roy and I have made pictures together for three years and I worked with him in the rodeo. We are bound to see a lot of each other. It's true we were at the Seacomber's cafe the other night, but with several other people and it was on studio business. I haven't any plans to marry anybody."

AGAINST the advice of veterinarians, the Bob Hopes are making every effort to prolong the life of their seven-year-old great Dane, "Red Son," which has been a playmate for their children since puppyhood. The Hopes think the dog is grieving for a cocker spaniel pal, "Tappy," which died recently. They have bought a new cocker in the hopes that this will help.

GAIL RUSSELL has a new admirer, the several-times-married Dr. Charles Russell Parrish (one of his ex's was Ann Merrill). Gail cut her eastern trip short because her mother has to undergo an operation. . . . The Jack La Rue, Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Food Fair

spelled out in four-foot high lighted letters. The building itself, Galley 39 39 39 39, contains 20,000 square feet, has hot air heat, 132 feet of counter space and nearly 1000 feet of cold cathode lighting. The latter, which gives off no heat, is similar to neon and was installed by the General Electric Company.

On the north side of the store, there is parking space for 100 cars.

The new store is staffed by more than 150 employees who will serve customers from both the Philadelphia and Main Line sides of City Line Ave.

Purchases will be checked in 12 cash register booths, fitted with slide tops which enable one customer to pile her packages on the rear of the counter while another is having hers tabulated. When the first customer's tabulation is finished, the clerk pulls forward the sliding shelf, bringing the second customer's pile of packages up to be checked.

The new Food Fair will sell not only all the well known nationally advertised brands of standard food items, but in addition such luxuries as orange slices preserved in wild honey and lemon juice, wild rice, onion soup, green turtle soup, packaged ice cream, rare seasonings and branded hard sauce.

A unique feature of the frosted food department is the Freezomat machine. This contains 35 units, each with an individual door for each variety of frozen fruit or vegetable. When a customer opens the door, the box of food is automatically pushed forward in the long refrigerated compartment. A light at the top of each row shows when the compartment is nearly empty and needs to be refilled by one of the clerks. There are three of these machines in the store. The frosted food department also features frozen pies, which need only to be put in the oven and cooked.

Other features of the new store include a self-service bakery table a machine which makes fresh doughnuts while you wait, a home needs department, a cosmetic counter and a department filled with items a housewife needs to keep her home in working order throughout the day.

Manager of the new store will be Clayton Webster, one of the Food Fair firm's top managers, who was head of the Collingswood, N. J. market until he took over his new duties.

"All of our prices will be ceiling prices or lower," Webster said when the store opened Tuesday. Regular hours, he said, will be from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. Monday through Wednesday. On Thursday the store will be open from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.; on Friday from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M. and on Saturday from 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

Soroptimists Launch Friendship Campaign

One of the ideals of the International Soroptimist Association is "to promote friendships between women of different nations in order to foster world peace and understanding." In accord with this concept, the American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs, which represents 260 organizations in the United States and Canada, is encouraging its individual members to make personal contact with members of clubs abroad, through friendly letter writing.

For quite a few years past the Soroptimist Club of Philadelphia has maintained special contact with the Soroptimist Club of Nottingham, England, as its "sister" club abroad. During the war years, local members sent bundles of gifts to Nottingham and from time to time made monetary donations to the British club for its canteen work and other interests. Gestures of helpfulness and goodwill similar to this, as well as a large "Bundles for Britain" campaign, were undertaken by many other American clubs during the war.

The Philadelphia Club has a "Sister Club Contact Committee," headed by Mrs. Madeleine T. Spiess. This group is preparing a list of Nottingham members, with the plan of giving every local member a "pen pal."

Since the Soroptimists in other lands, just as the clubs here, are composed of professional women and business executives, Mrs. Spiess hopes that she can "match up" members of similar occupational interests. There are about 60 members in the Nottingham Club; close to 100 in the group.

There are 127 clubs in the Soroptimist Federation of Great Britain and Ireland and 44 clubs in the European Federation. Clubs are located in Norway, Holland, Denmark, France, Belgium and Switzerland.

The Americans and British jointly are undertaking the task of rehabilitating both clubs and individual members in Europe. Not only were a number of clubs forced to cease functioning during the war years (those in Germany and Italy have yet to be reorganized) but many of the Soroptimists became completely impoverished during the war losing business and equipment through bombings, seizure by the Germans or pillage.

Ireland have contributed a fund Women in Great Britain and totaling $40,000, which is being used to help the individual Soroptimists become re-established in business and professions. Thirty women have applied for financial aid so far.

Members of the American Federation raised a fund of $27,000, this money to be used by clubs rather than individuals for their rehabilitation.

Local Leaders Hear National Red Cross Aide

James D. Nicholson
Warns Casualty Peak
Not Yet Reached

Volunteer workers in the 1947 Red Cross Fund Campaign last week were told by James P. Nicholson, Executive Vice President, American National Red Cross, that "the peak of casualties attributed to World War II will not be reached until 1976."

Local Red Cross officials attending the dinner-meeting included Mrs. Prescott Watts, Fund Chairman of the Bala-Cynwyd Branch; Mrs. Siter Owen, Fund Chairman of the Main Line Branch; and Frank Porter, Disaster Chairman of the Upper Haverford Township Branch.

Nicholson, who addressed two meetings of local Red Cross Branch Chairmen and Branch Fund Chairmen, laid the groundwork for the drive in which residents of the five-county area comprising the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter will be asked to raise $2,490,000 — approximately $1,000,000 less than the 1946 goal.

"Some people," Nicholson said, "believe the war is over. For some, and they are the 250,000 permanently maimed veterans, the war never will be over. It isn't over for the members of the armies of occupation. The Red Cross today is as essential as it was during the war."

"Statisticians today figure the peak of casualties attributable to World War II will not be reached until 1976. As time progresses, injuries and other effects of the war will become more visible with the advancing years."

Scarlet Fever Case Reported

Nine-year-old Boy Is
First Victim in 1947

Nine-year-old Glenn Benham, Jr., of 52 Colfax Rd., Oakmont, is Haverford Township's first scarlet fever victim of 1947.

Dell N. Ross, township health officer, reported the boy was stricken with a mild case of the disease New Year's Day. Glenn and his six-year-old sister, Yvonne, both students at Oakmont Public School, are quarantined at their home for the required three weeks. Glenn Benham, Sr., is the owner of the G-B Supplies, a hardware store on Eagle Rd., Oakmont.

During 1946, a total of 25 cases of scarlet fever were reported in Haverford Township.

Ross said 23 cases of mumps were reported in the Township during the four days of 1947. Also reported were nine new cases of chicken pox and three of whooping cough.

T. T. T. Charter Met In Penfield Downs

The January meeting of the T. T. T., a secret organization, was held last week at the home of Mrs. C. Charlton Williams, 1004 Hampstead Rd., Penfield Downs.

Plans were discussed for the initiation of four new members which will follow a dinner to be held at the Walnut Park Plaza February 12.

Mrs. Elbert Rogers, president of the Pennsylvania A Chapter of the organization, recently left for a trip to Washington where she will be received by Mrs. Truman.

Blaze Damages Haverford Home

Fire caused by an overheated motor in an oil burner damaged the new home of Mrs. Frank H. Girard, 322 Grays Lane, Haverford, Friday night.

Mrs. Girard, whose husband was killed in the war, was absent from home. Neighbors notified Lower Merion police who summoned the Bryn Mawr and Merion Fire Companies. Mrs. Girard's father, A. W. Swartz, who lives next door, took his two grandchildren, one and two and a half years old, to his home while firemen extinguished the blaze.

Students Graduate from State Teachers College

Included in the 47 students graduated this week from West Chester State Teachers College were:

Dorothy Baird, of 171 Upland Terrace, Bala-Cynwyd, B.S. in Elementary Education, and Alice Strickler, of 11 W. Amherst Rd., Cynwyd, B.S. in Elementary Education.

"SCOUTS OF THE WORLD BUILDING FOR TOMORROW"

FEBRUARY 7-13, 1947

BOY SCOUT WEEK

Nearly 2,000,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Senior Scouts will observe the 57th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7th to 13th. Through their World Friendship Fund of voluntary gifts the Boy Scouts of America have given $110,464.36 to help Boy Scouts overseas rebuild their organizations. During the first year of their "Shirts-Off-Our-Backs" project more than 400 cases—or twenty tons—of Scout uniforms and equipment collected from Scouts were contributed to Scouts in 13 nations. Scouting has always been an active force in promoting better understanding and mutual goodwill among the nations. Above is the official poster marking the event.

Busy Congressman From Haverford's Rowdy Class

Haverford College's famous rowdy class of 1910 not only turned out famous men and writers but it also graduated John Phillips, one of the busiest and best-informed congressmen in Washington today.

Phillips made his home in Delaware County for 21 years before he bought a California ranch to regain his health. But instead of raising oranges he went in for Scotty dogs, a hobby that soon brought him into demand as a speaker. His speaking gave him a wide acquaintance and in 1932 he served on the Banning, California, town council and then stepped up to the State Legislature.

Following his natural inclination for tanching Phillips went to Europe in 1937 to study agriculture. He was arrested by Kiev Soviet officials in 1937 for taking pictures without authority but soon gained his release.

In last year's election his people sent him back to Congress with a 23,000 majority. For the Congress now in session he has elected to take a post on the appropriations committee where he will make a study of financial aid for farms and farmers.

Congressman Phillips' father was a mining engineer who lived in St. David's where the congressman grew up and graduated from Radnor High School.

Records show that every member of the famous 1910 class had something published. Among Phillips' classmates were Christopher Moley, Philip Noel-Baker, minister of State in the British Cabinet.

Phillips is looking forward to a visit from Haverford College students who are taking government courses. The visit was arranged by President Gilbert White of Haverford College for sometime next month.

For his second term in Congress, that was in 1944, Congressman Phillips was elected by both Republicans and Democrats.

Mrs. Phillips her husband's secretary. They live near Alexandria but are unable to keep a Scotty dog. Congressman Phillips served in World War I and his three sons and a daughter served in the last war.

Catholic U. Dean Speaks To Sacred Heart Group

Elimination of social injustices will halt the spread of Communism, said the Very Reverend Ignatius Smith, dean of the department of philosophy, Catholic University, Washington.

LITTLE THINGS about the Stars

By GEORGE LILLEY

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Last of vaudeville's famous "Seven Little Foys"—four brothers, two sisters and the "old man"—to remain in show business is Eddie. Loose joined, wide-mouthed Eddie Foy is doing good. He's been Feb. 14 a star of Broadway's hot revival, "The Red Mill," and now has graduated into head man of NBC's widely tuned in Thursday night "Music Hall" (with Eddy Duchin, the latest & fast).

Foy is the latest, and perhaps near the last, of the school that produced Jack Benny, Bob Hope, Eddie Cantor and Edgar Bergen. Like many vaudevillians, Edward Felix Fitzgerald Foy, 41, looks dumb, thinks fast. For the odd strutting (5-8, 11½ shoe) comic, it is the first big radio break.

ROOKIE AND HIS SNOOKIE

"McGarry and His Mouse" is one of radio's better situation comic shows. The program replaced Eddie Cantor for the summer last year and was widely acclaimed by critics. That sometimes is the kiss of death for a show sponsored by a big name, but the first of the new year along came one and you can now hear "McGarry" Monday nights via the Mutual network. "Dan McGarry" is an irrepressible rook detective and "Kitty Archer" is his redheaded girlfriend, who explains the title—the show's biggest mystery. The rest is somewhat a radio's "Archie" in detective shoes. "McGarry" is played by ex-movie actor, ex-band-leader and ex-husband of "Maise," Roger Pryor. Shirley Mitchell, who until she moved to New York was Joan Davis' "Barbara Weatherby," is "Mouse."

During the holidays Elliott Lewis, star of "The Casebook of Gregory Louie," Monday nights, Mutual, and wife, Cathy, celebrated their birthdays the same evening. He was born December 27, she the 28th. Mrs. Lewis' maiden name also was Lewis! That theory that single girls sing better than married ones appears wrecked by Ginny Simms' improvement (Friday nights, CBS). . . . Joe Young was born within 50 miles of Comic Alan Young in England, met him in America, ended up Alan's script writer (Wednesday nights, NBC). They are no relation. . . . Dinah Shore (Wednesday nights, CBS) has passed Hollywood's true-love acid test. She signs autographs Dinah Shore Montgomery.
